Company Spent Capital in Advertising Their Scheme.

GENERAL MANAGER SKIPS

Mutual Home Realty Company of Brooklyn Had Building Contracts Aggregating $1,000,000.

NEW YORK, July 13.-The Mutual Home Realty Company, of Brooklyn, which has been doing a building and has been deserted by its general manager, William C. Benton. This fact has disclosed that the total capital back of the $1.000,000 in contracts outstanding was spent at the time of the organization of the company in furnishing the suite of offices, buying stationery and inserting advertisements in the oan business among working people, and inserting advertisements in the newspapers. Mr. Benton vanished a week ago last Monday, saying that he was going to New Jersey. He is said to have been known in 1902 as William B. Carleton, who was driven from New Jersey for running a wildcat financial scheme. He did not return, and the safe was blown open. The cooks were found hidden under the safe, but about $700 is still missing.

Little Capital Paid In.

The loss of this much cash so embarrassed the company that a meeting of the officers and directors has been called for tonight to arrange for an in-crease of the capital stock. David Goldberg, a city marshal, of 402 Sackman street, is secretary and treasurer. Asked last night how much capital the company had, he replied, "One hundred thousand dollars.'

"How much has been paid in?" was

"Almost nothing." he admitted. 'How many contracts for building new homes have you outstanding?"
"I think about 350, averaging from $1,000 to $10,000 each." Mr. Goldberg admitted that the average contract was for about $3,000, so that the total operations shouldered by the company aggregate in excess of the company aggregate in excess of $1,000,000. And the whole business was launched and carried on with scarcely a dollar capital above that required to furnish an office in the Temple Barbullding. The State banking department, which is presumed to supervise such ventures, apparently took no notice.

Cleverly Planned Scheme.

The marvelous feature of the situation is that the company has carried on the business for four months without defaulting on any of its obligations. Its plan of operation is so cleverly and boldly conceived, that had not their manager absconded and had the tide of real estate speculation not ebbed, every patron would doubtless have gotten his home as promised and the promoters would have made enormous fortunes.

Under the plan homes are sold for as low as $50 cash and $7 a month, and the $50 payment is so divided that only $2.50 a month is required to accumulate the sum. As the company takes mortgages on practically the full value of the property, it is believed that a sindefaulting on any of its obligations. Its ten his home as promise.

The property is so divided that only $2.50 a month is required to accumulate the sum. As the company takes mortgages on practically the full value of the property, it is believed that a single serious slump in real estate values would cause the entire scheme to collapse.
